NEWTON COLLEGE OF THE SACRED HEART
NEWTON, MASSACHUSETTS

These form
the splendor
of NEWTON

We have lived among them
And have helped prove them.
In believing them,
We make them exist.

Ten years ago no college existed "on the shining heights of Newton." Ten brief years have seen the firm establishment and truly miraculous growth of our own dear Newton College of the Sacred Heart. Its five beautiful buildings, its student body that will reach the three hundred mark in September, its well-organized, loyal Alumnae, its high scholastic standard recognized in New England and further afield, its well-known School of Liturgical Music, its own peculiar characteristics such as the special brand of family spirit among the students fostered by the mingling of every class in each house, its high excellence in all studies integrated under the liberating reign of Theology, Queen of the Sciences, its intense liturgical life finding highest expression in the daily Missa recitata vel cantata: these are the splendor of Newton raised to the glory of the Most Holy Trinity through the Heart from which Newton came.

It was indeed from the Heart of Christ that Newton was born, for Newton finds her place in the Church, the Bride that issued from the side of the Second Adam as He slept in death on the Cross. One of the soldiers opened His side and there came forth the Sacraments, red blood and living water, sanguis et aqua into which are changed the wine and water of our Mass. What else do our Burgundy and Blue stand for but that fountain of grace and joy that sprang from the pain of the crucified?

The old order changes giving place to the new. The waters flow along, year by year in volume gaining. We are in that stream of grace, that never failing fountain. Let us never swerve from the channel, but wear it ever deeper, singing as we go.

—MOTHER ELEANOR KENNY

We dedicate this yearbook to Mother Eleanor Kenny, Newton's first president, that her creative insight which formed the spirit of the college and gave direction to its aims, might be fully actualized in us.

Time measures change on our campus in its people and its houses

CUSHING with its young and modern quality, gradually integrates itself into Newton spirit, while Hardey, its neighbor house, reflects experience and maturity. New buildings are added to the old just as knowledge of ourselves increases as we go from Freshman to Senior year.

People we will always

Mother White: For her role in shaping our characters.

remember for their special brand of encouragement

Father Friel: Who was always interested in "whatever we thought."

Our parents: The first cause of our being at Newton.

THE SENIOR THESIS

The thesis of senior year; seeing relationships that make our life and our studies one.

In our first year foundations were laid for future development at Newton. We grew up with our buildings and, like them, began with high plans and unbounded enthusiasm. We found outlets for our energy in hazing and our Freshman show, OF THEE WE SING, NEWTON; we learned how to keep it within the limits of order by the discipline of Student Government.

Through Student Government we learn to govern ourselves and lead others, while Social Committee upholds a standard of social behavior and finds dates for dances throughout the school year.

M. A. Beattie, Vice-President; N. Kottenstette, Secretary; M. Lee, Treasurer; P. Hinchey, President.

As Sophomores our most important concern was deciding on a major field and realizing the amount of hard work and concentration needed to be a student. It wasn't all drudgery though. We ran a successful Christmas Carnival and serenaded our Senior sisters.

We grew in social maturity. At Junior Weekend and the Ring Banquet, we tried out our new sophistication. Some of us got married and engaged; others stayed to take on different responsibilities here at school.

"St. Thomas," our studies in our major fields, our dances, our dates, our friendships, all began to fit together under the high pressure of a busy Senior year. We got to know ourselves and our classmates better and did our best to pass our joy in Newton down to the other classes . . .

M. Keating, Secretary; S. Quinlan, President; J. Englert, Vice-President;
G. McDonough, Treasurer.

Interest in other people develops through seemingly unrelated activities: Junior Weekend and new responsibilities in campus organizations.

Newton's frontiers change and move forward. Our founders know what it means to build. They watched Stuart's cornerstone being laid in 1947, and since then they have had the courage to break new ground whenever the need arose.

The class schedule sets the tempo of our day. Somehow, there is time for everything, from the unexpected phone call, to the hours spent at study, — and even a spare moment to check the post office for mail.

ARCHBISHOP WILL CONFER DEGREES JUNE 3RD

French Government Gives Legion Cross To Mother General

On May 10th, Reverend Mother de Lescure, Superior General of the Society of the Sacred Heart, received from the French government the signal honor of being decorated with the cross of a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. The presentation was made in the Mother House in Rome, Via Nomentana, by the French ambassador to Italy, M. Roland de Margerie.

In the course of the ceremony, M. de Margerie remarked that the honor paid to Our Mother General was addressed through her to the Society throughout the world. M. de Margerie himself has known the Society in the United States, in Spain and in China.

In replying, Reverend Mother de Lescure attributed all the work which the Society has been able to accomplish to St. Madeleine Sophie, who had, she said, "a French heart and mind, but a Roman soul," and who had given her Society "traditions of Catholicity." A Religious of the Sacred Heart, she pointed out, "reaches beyond national boundaries to the Kingdom of God everywhere."

College Welcomes Rev. Mother Barry

Newton students welcomed Reverend Mother Barry at a reception in her honor on Monday, May 13th. Reverend Mother Barry, Superior Vicar of the Washington Vicariate, was also local superior here at Newton College two years ago, before the seat of the Vicariate was again moved to Washington, D.C. Her stay at Newton was the biennial visit which she makes to each of the houses in her Vicariate.

In an address to the college, Reverend Mother noted especially the great increase in the student body in the past two years. After her address she graciously greeted each student personally.

TV Camera Spotlights Familiar Newton Scenes

A televised interview and informal discussions conducted by Miss Carey, Director of the Dramatic Club, will highlight Newton's publicity activities for this semester. The program, in which students and alumnae will participate, will be presented over Providence TV station WPRO, Channel 12, Sunday morning, May 26th, from 11:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Dietrich von Hildebrand To Address 53 Graduates

On Monday, June 3rd, at a 5:30 ceremony on the Stuart Circle, the Most Reverend Richard J. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, will confer fifty-one Bachelor of Arts degrees, one Bachelor of Science degree and one Bachelor of Music degree on Newton's senior class. The Commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Dietrich von Hildebrand, noted philosopher and author, now at Fordham University.

The Commencement ceremonies will be preceded by a traditional series of events beginning on Saturday, May 25th, with a baby party at Newton Academy for the children of the alumnae and friends of the college. May 28th is the date scheduled for the senior banquet, given by Reverend Mother, the reading of the Senior Will and Prophecies, the class songs, and the presentation of athletic awards.

The Senior Ball, the social highlight of every Commencement weekend, will be held at the Sheraton Plaza with music provided by Jeff Carlton and his orchestra. All friends of the college are invited.

On Sunday, June 2nd, the Capping of the Sophomores will take place. This will be followed by Baccalaureate Mass in the Assembly Hall, celebrated by Reverend Paul V. Harrington, J.C.L. The Reverend William F. Lynch, S. J., from Georgetown University, will speak. That evening the graduates and their parents will attend a buffet supper followed by the Serenades and Torchlight Ceremony in the Quonset.

Academic Honors

Seven members of the Class of 1957 have received special academic honors. Cathy Joyce has received Assistantships in Chemistry at Boston College and at Chicago's Loyola University. Mary Winslow and Connie Weldon are both winners of Fellowships to the Graduate School of English at Marquette University.

Keys to Kappa Gamma Pi, the National Catholic Honor Society of Women's Colleges, have been awarded to Patricia Hinchey, Mary Lacey Kelly, Nancy Kottenstette, Barbara Lowe, and Connie Weldon. The keys were awarded by the faculty, and will be presented at Commencement. They are given for distinction in the field of scholarship, and for outstanding service and qualities of leadership.

Ready for the Next Step

Mary Winslow, Connie Weldon, and Cathy Joyce, (standing) all winners of fellowships, chat with Pat Blanchard, volunteer mission worker to Jamaica.

Since We Benefit . . .

When a prospective freshman is considering coming to Newton, one of her first questions is: "What does Newton have to offer me?" There are many things such as Catholic atmosphere, good location, small size, and liberal permissions which recommend the school to the outsider. But once she has become an insider, she finds that, above all, she is on her own. Her term papers will be good or just average as she is willing to devote her time. Her extra-curricular life will be more or less happy as she is willing to enter into activities.

The chance to decide for oneself what college will mean to us is one of the best features of Newton. Things of value such as daily Mass, lectures, or membership in a club, while available to all, are not forced on anyone. In college, where a sense of values and of responsibility must develop, this freedom is a great asset. In the matter of choosing courses, we are free to take the path of least resistance or to enter a challenging field. Outside the classroom, there are many club and class functions. Each one decides what she should join, or if she should join at all.

But besides this gift of "self-determination," everyone is exposed to a college life which, both intellectually and socially, is interested in the modern world. As students we study and read about it: as Catholics we are taught a sound philosophy by which to judge it. This combination of study and judgment, past and present, produces not just an educated, but a cultured Catholic.

These are just two things which Newton has to offer: the pleasure of choosing freely to do things in all spheres of campus life; the provision of things of value to make that choice worthwhile.

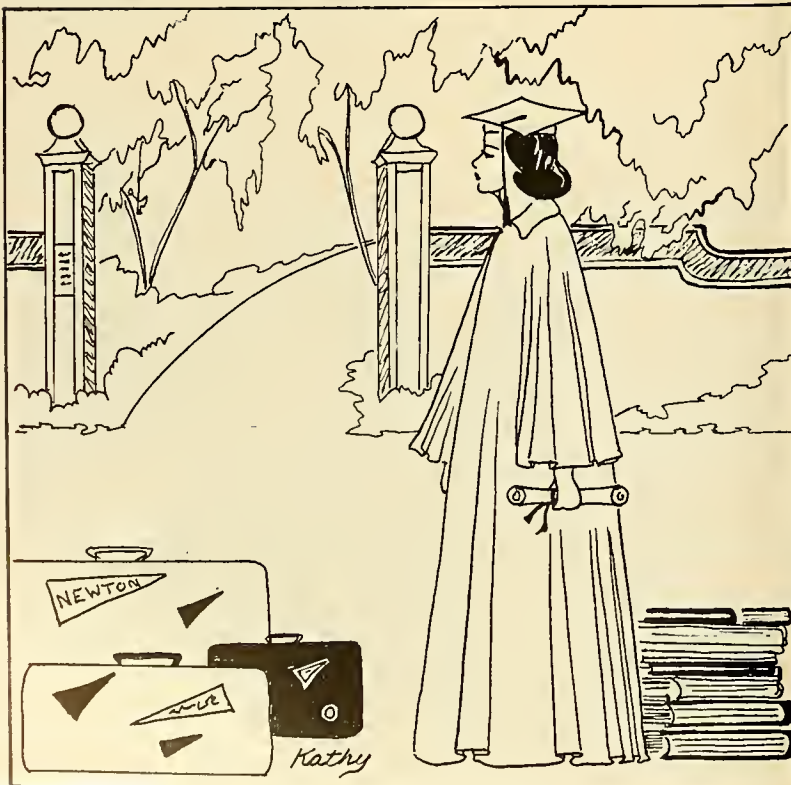

By Patricia Hinchey '57

We Should Also Give

"What do I have to offer Newton?" This is the other side of the coin—the correlative to the question posed in Pat Hinchey's editorial. Obviously, students help make the college. Indifference can obscure the best of advantages. Clubs or other extra-curricular activities can be fascinating or flops, depending on the students (or lack of students) who make them so. Lectures can be stimulating or boring, depending on the demand and support of the students.

If we demand the best of our college—and we should—we have to give something of ourselves to it—our interest. This may seem like a small contribution, almost too obvious in application. Yet it is the key to a successful college life. What we bring to college determines what we will "get out of it." This pertains to all phases of college life—spiritual, academic, and social. We are free to make of them what we will.

The freedom of "self-determination" at Newton entails a personal responsibility. Freedom of choice is the greatest of human gifts, but it must be respected and used wisely. A college can offer opportunities, but we must use them.

"Long Day's Journey into Light."

Lighter Side

June is here at last, and with it the all-enveloping excitement that accompanies vacations and travel. Voices are pitched just a note or two higher when summer plans are discussed, and at least three registers higher when "tans" are compared. Girls can be found peering at obviously healthy images in the mirror and bemoaning the lack of circles under their eyes—the only chic manifestations of a week of exams (on the college level, of course).

* * *

Summer jobs are a frequent topic, and no one seems to understand why more people don't want to pay $150 a week for highly talented beachcombers. After all, this is a job that definitely calls for special skills, and as the berry-picking rates have been lowered, it's the answer to that ever-present question—what to do this summer?

* * *

Ah, well, these are the usual monumental worries of the college girl, and they are quickly forgotten when life's bigger problems arise, i.e. how to get three years accumulation of clothes in an overnight bag, and how to get to Detroit on thirty-two cents and a paper clip.

LAY APOSTOLATE IN ACTION

This year the Lay Apostolate was inaugurated at Newton. Pat Blanchard '57, under the sponsorship of the Mission Unit, will go to Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I., sometime in August as a volunteer teacher. A few weeks ago, the Most Reverend John J. McEleney, S.J., Bishop of Jamaica, visited Newton and, in an interview with Pat, expressed his happiness in her choice.

Pat first became interested when Mother Walsh explained the importance of the movement to the Mission Unit last year. The Lay Apostolate began at Regis in 1949, to alleviate the desperate need of missionaries in staffing their schools; a Regis senior was sent to Guam that year. The movement has since snow-balled, and the Holy Father has enthusiastically encouraged it.

Today, several colleges in New England send graduates to the place of their choice for a year. Schools staffed by Lay Apostolate workers are located in Alaska, New Mexico, North Carolina, and many other areas. Jamaica has special interest for us here, as it is a mission of the New England Province of the Society of Jesus.

In the Lay Apostolate program, college graduates donate a year to teaching without remuneration in a mission field. Transportation is provided by their colleges, and living facilities are provided by the Bishop or parish where they are stationed. The experience has been invaluable to those who wish to continue teaching, and the travel and social opportunities have been rewarding. Of course the greatest satisfaction is in the knowledge of work well done for the love of God.

Pat, a true "pioneer," has everyone's best wishes, and it is hoped that from her example the Lay Apostolate will grow in strength and numbers here at Newton.

NEW GENERAL COURSE IS PLANNED

A major curriculum change which will replace the present program for Freshman and Sophomore year, and which will go into effect with the incoming Freshman class has been announced by the Office of the Dean. Under the new plan the present theology and philosophy requirements (totaling five hours of class a week) will be retained, and an elective in a language, science, or mathematics, may be taken but is not required.

The major change involves the introduction of a new course, "A Study of Western Culture," which will form the basis of the underclassmen's schedule. During Freshman year the student will consider western civilization until 1453. Sophomore year the course will include from 1453 to the present. Sophomores will also be required to take any courses prerequisite for their major field.

The five hour a week course on western culture will consist of lectures given daily by one of fifteen or twenty members of the faculty, with the possible inclusion of guest speakers. Aspects of western culture to be considered will include political history, history of the arts, literature, science, mathematics, and social and economic thought.

The students will then be divided into small groups which will meet with one of the professors the week following his lecture. The purpose of these discussions is to clarify aspects of the topic considered the preceding week.

Emphasis will be placed on outside reading which should be done approximately two hours each day. This outside work should correlate with the lecture periods by supplementing material presented during class sessions.

Two test periods will be held each week during which the student will be quizzed, first objectively, and then by essay questions, on the main facts and basic concepts of the lectures given the preceding week.

The purpose of the new plan is to establish a basis of general knowledge for all students and to train the students in habits of thought, individual work, and careful oral and written expression.

Plans are also being formulated for a new English Composition class for Freshmen. Candidates for this course will be determined by the student's College Board Examination rating in English and by her treatment of the essay questions given in connection with the new "Western Culture" course.

The offering of two new major fields, Political Science, which will be included in the History department, and Economics, which will be included in the Sociology department, has also been announced.

CHURCH DIGNITARIES VISIT COLLEGE

Members of the hierarchy from three continents have been guests at Newton during May: our own Archbishop of Boston, the Apostolic Delegate to New Zealand and Australia, and the new Bishop of South Korea.

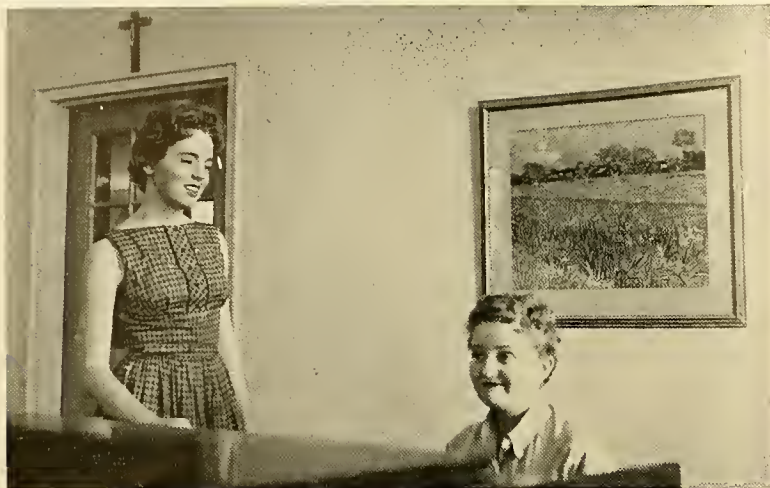

On Thursday morning, May 23rd, Bishop Harold W. Henry, S.S.C., Vicar Apostolic of Kwangju, South Korea, celebrated the 7:15 Mass at Newton. Bishop Henry had been consecrated a bishop by Archbishop Cushing the previous Saturday in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in Boston. Bishop Henry will return in the near future to his Korean Mission, where he first became acquainted with the Religious of the Sacred Heart, through their Convent in Seoul.

Archbishop Romolo Carboni, Apostolic Delegate to New Zealand and Australia, greeted friends and relatives on Monday night, May 6th, at a reception held at Newton. Guests included Archbishop Richard J. Cushing and Right Reverend Robert J. Sennott, Chancellor of the Archdiocese.

Seniors participated in annual Tree-Planting Ceremony on Thursday, May 9th. Here Nancy Bowdring adds her shovel-full, while seniors and faculty took on.

Seniors Cathy Connolly and Pat Ritchie gave graduation concerts at Newton—Cathy in voice on May 8th, and Pat in piano on May 15th.

Mary Winslow, "885" Scholastic Honors Win Literary Honors Go to Class of 1961 At NFCCS Congress

A share of the honors at the annual NFCCS Congress in Worcester, went to Mary Winslow '57 and Newton's newspaper. At the banquet on Saturday evening, May 4th, Joan David '57, chairman of the Literary Contest, announced that Mary had won second prize (a check for ten dollars) in the Short Story division for her entry "Bold Red."

"885" received second prize in the Press Contest, Division B. The selection was based on three recent issues of school papers submitted by Catholic colleges in the New England area. Newton was judged on the last three issues of former editor Connie Weldon, and awarded a certificate of merit.

At the evaluation meeting Saturday night, Newton was also awarded the Literary Commission which will be seated here and will include the Literary Contest and One-Act Play Contest. Gini Little '59 will be chairman of this Commission next year.

Student Council Plans Ahead; New Student-Faculty Committee

As part of the Student Government program for next year, a new committee has been organized for the express purpose of fostering better student-faculty relations. The Student-Faculty Committee consists of ten students representing each class, and members of the faculty, both religious and lay.

Headed by Sheila Quinlan '58, this committee met for the first time on Monday, May 13th. This meeting was to determine the interest in and possible activities of this program. A lively discussion and positive suggestions marked the meeting a success.

Plans for next year included frequent informal talks by faculty members on timely subjects in fields such as art, music, social problems, etc. These would be open to any students interested in the current topic. The Committee itself plans to meet periodically to talk over student affairs and problems.

The general tenor of the meeting indicated that both students and faculty would benefit by a closer contact, on both social and academic levels. Further suggestions for achieving this are being worked out, and the Committee hopes to inaugurate some of these next year.

Arena Style Program Scores Another Hit For Opera Workshop

The Opera Workshop's initial attempt at a theatre in the round production at Newton on Monday evening, May 13th, was a significant success. Directed and accompanied by Mrs. F.K. Balling, the Workshop presented excerpts from "The Marriage of Figaro," "Tales of Hoffman," and "Porgy and Bess" in this manner. Scenery and costumes for the production were kept to a minimum, and special interest was aroused by the lighting effects.

Among the cast Kate McCann, Cathy Connolly, Peggy McMurrer, Nancy Harvey, and Janet Chartier shared the leading roles, while John Sweeney, John Bresnahan, and Joseph Vidoli sang the male parts. Pat Ritchie was the assistant accompanist, with Glenna La Salle at the harp; the overture was played by Pat and Peggy McMurrer.

The Student Council, during the last month of school, has been planning next year's activities. Jo Englert and the next Student Council have drawn up a tentative program to be enacted next September. This program includes: 1) a more active Social Committee; 2) meetings of the Student-Faculty Committee to provide closer student-faculty relations and discussions of theoretical and practical problems in the college; 3) a more definite channeling of opinion through class representatives to the Council; 4) fewer Student assemblies, with each meeting less concerned with details and open to necessary explanations or expression of opinion from the floor.

The new Student Council is also revising the Handbook of the Constitution and By-laws, with a view to greater clarity and a more thorough explanation of college functions for the benefit of the incoming freshman class.

In conjunction with Student Council plans for next year, N.S.A. sponsored a Student Government Forum on Thursday, May 9th. Mother Husson opened the forum with a talk on qualities that are, or should be found in Newton students. Jo Englert led a panel discussion on which Mother Smith, Mr. Curran and five members of Student Council discussed means for the proper channeling of student opinion which is so important for all Student Government systems. The forum continued with group meetings of students and faculty members who discussed facets of college life at Newton. The minutes of these meetings will be analyzed and reorganized to provide a reference for Student Government next year.
